Call for applications: Guest Professorship at the Aleksander Brückner Center in Halle

The Aleksander-Brückner-Center for Polish Studies in Halle is looking for a short term guest professor who would like to join our team for a period of one month from November 2020 to February 2021 (provided that the development of the COVID 19-pandemic allows).

Tasks:

teach a course (in English or German) on a topic within the range of your current research relating to Polish society, culture or politics to MA and BA students from various disciplines (28 academic hours, concentrated on two to three weekends)

participate in the activities of the Center engage in interdisciplinary discussions

Deadline: 1 July 2020

We are especially interested in researchers who can give an engaging course that caters to a student audience from the Humanities that does not necessarily specialize in Polish Studies. Candidates with a background in a variety of disciplines, including sociology, cultural anthropology, social psychology, political science, law, literature & cultural studies, etc., are welcome.

The lecturer will be hosted at the Aleksander-Brückner-Center in Halle (www.aleksander-brueckner-zentrum.org) and will receive a lump sum of 4,000 Euros to cover all expenses. The staff of the Center will support you in practical matters, e.g. finding accommodation and access to libraries.

Guest professors are expected to reside in Halle most of the time, pursue their research and interact with academic and other institutions in town, e.g., the Max Planck Institute for Social Anthropology (<https://www.eth.mpg.de/2169/en>).

If you are interested, please contact yvonne.kleinmann@geschichte.uni-halle.de.

We are looking forward to read about your ideas!
